

CANNON BELIEVES
VICTORY CERTAINSAYS DEMOCRATS ALWAYS WIN
UNTIL THE VOTE IS COUNTED.

NO MEETING TALKED OF

Talked of Conference Between Taft, Roosevelt and Hughes Not Known of in Washington.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, D. C., June 27.—"God willing, I'll be here next session, and it will be for a republican majority to determine who shall be speaker."Speaker Cannon paid a farewell call at the white house today and the above is what he said regarding future plans."In all my life I have never seen a situation so full of promise for a republican victory in the fall. It always happens that the democrats who hands down at this time of the year, but when the ballot was counted they come out behind as usual."It was stated at the white house today that nothing was known there of the prospective meeting of Governor Hughes, Roosevelt, and President Taft at Beverly this week or any time in the near future. It was stated, positively, that no such arrangement had been suggested at the Washington end.Arrangements for transferring the executive offices from Washington to Beverly were practically completed today. The president will leave for his summer capital tomorrow.The house ship-subsidy lobby investigation was practically closed today.
The committee met in New York in November to examine the steamship representatives and report to congress next winter.The committee has already concluded that the charge that a lobby was maintained in Washington has not been sustained.ROMEO, MICHIGAN, IS SCENE OF TRAGEDYUncle Kills His Eleven Year Old Niece and Then Shoots Himself
In the Head.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Romeo, Mich., June 27.—William Watson, aged 36, shot and killed his niece, Ruth Ferguson, aged 11, and then shot himself. He will probably die. The tragedy occurred this afternoon in an alley near the girl's home.
No motive for the deed is known.BOSTWICK KILLED BY A POSSE TODAYDefended Himself in His Home, Killing Two of His Besiegers Yesterday.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Atlanta, Ga., June 27.—W. T. Bostwick, after being barricaded in his house for hours with his six children, killing two of his besiegers yesterday,
was himself killed in the house today, near Irwinville. His children were taken unharmed.GOOD SIZED PEARL FOUND IN THE RIVERJewel Valued at From $30 to $40 Picked Up by Charles Lund of Edgerton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, Wis., June 27.—Charles Lund has found a pearl in Rock river near home valued at from $30 to $40.

Died.

Nels Olson was brought before Justice D. W. North and fined $10, and costs amounting in all to $13.50, for drunkenness, and in default of payment of a fine was committed to the Rock county jail for not to exceed fifteen days or until the fine is paid.

Got "Booze" for Minor.

George Babcock was arrested for procuring liquor for his minor brother, Herbert Babcock. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.50, including costs, by Justice North. He paid the fine.

Local News.

The Misses Florence Doty, Josephine Franklin, Gertrude Ballard, and Grace Doty have gone to Whitewater to attend the summer session for teachers at the normal school there.Mrs. T. H. Earle is entertaining the Culture club of this city at her cottage at Lake Koshkonong.Edgerton will not celebrate the Fourth of July.Rev. J. Edmoyold and L. H. Tol-berg are at Stoughton as representatives of the local church at the eastern district of the Norwegian Luther-ian synod, in session there until the 29th.The Edgerton concert band has been engaged to furnish music for Stoughton's Fourth of July celebration.Miss Nellie Bentley has been engaged as a teacher in violin at the summer school under the direction of the university at Madison.Miss Whiford Coot has gone to Burlington where she joined a party of twenty members of her university class for a week's camping on Brown's Lake.Rev. G. A. Gullickson of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Chicago, occupied the pulpit of the Norwegian church Sunday, conducting the services in the English language.Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Atwell have gone to Stevens Point on a visit to relatives.The Congregational and Methodist churches joined in a union service
Sunday evening in the former church.
Rev. McManus of the M. E. church preached the sermon, his theme being
"The Divine Drama."LIST OF DEAD IS NOT YET COMPLETETotal Number of Victims of the River Disaster Not Yet Known by Authorities.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)La Crosse, Wis., June 27.—There still seems to be doubt as to the exact number who perished in the Mississippi river fire Saturday. The body of Mrs. Emma Randal, who leaped overboard when the first alarm of fire was sounded, was recovered today, but the dragging of the river for the body of another woman who, it is reported, leaped into the river, has not been recovered. A coroner's investigation will be started as soon as the other bodies, if any, are recovered.The belief here is that the estimate of four dead is correct. The government authorities, however, have not allowed anyone to enter the hull of the burned boat to determine whether there are two bodies there as reported.There is a severe storm raging between here and the scene of the wreck and all communication by telephone was cut off this forenoon, making it difficult to learn any further details. The burned hull is now on the Wisconsin side of the river, having been towed from Bad Axe Island, where the passengers escaped. There is nothing left above the water but a few inches of the hull.POSTPONE WEDDING; GROOM IS MISSINGRockton Girl Much Mystified by Telegram Telling of Accident Which He Received.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Beloit, June 27.—Miss Nona Wall, of Rockton, whose wedding had to be postponed because of the nonap-pearance of Charles Ford, her fiance, is now mystified over the receipt of a telegram signed Carl, saying he is in the hospital at Aberdeen, S. D., with a crushed foot. Miss Wall's mystification is caused because the message was sent from Mobridge, a hundred miles from Aberdeen.EARLY PIONEER OF WISCONSIN IS DEAD"Aunt Sally" Munger, Who Lived In Seymour When It Was a Wilderness, Died in Beloit.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Beloit, June 27.—Miss Sally Mun-ger, familiarly known as "Aunt Sally," died here last night. She was a resident of Seymour, Wis., for fifty years.
When she first lived in Seymour it was a wilderness, inhabited principally by wild animals and Indians, it was an uncommon thing for the indians to peep about the houses and peep in at the windows.WILL BE SENTENCED TO A PRISON TERMAmerican Who Handled Mines and Guns For Insurgents Found Gulty by Court.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Bluefield, W. Va., June 27.—An attempt is being made here to unite the three great Norwegian churches of the United States. The Norwegian synod is holding a convention here and the preachers have started a movement to combine this church with the United Lutheran and the Hauge synods. The only differences are minor articles of the creed and the effort will probably be a success.FRACTIONAL GAINS SHOWN IN STOCKSConcordians in All Speculative Issues Marks Today's Trading in New York.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Citizens Get Out With Shovels to Clean Away the Piles of Dead Insects.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Madden Rock, Wis., June 27.—The major portion of the male population of this village, armed with shovels, turned out Saturday to remove from the lake shore the myriad armies of dead shad flies or "scotoloches" that had floated ashore last week, forming drifts over a foot in depth along the shore. Decomposing in the hot sun they had made an almost unendur-able stench, that was also a menace to health.A PRISON SENTENCE WAS HANDED DOWNMan Who Enticed Young Girls to Leave Home and Then Sold Them Into Slavery Convicted.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Appleton, Wis., June 27.—James Vineau, who last April abducted Miss Lillian Neuman and Sylvia Graham of this city, and took them to International Falls, Minn., where he sold them into "white slavery," pleaded guilty June 23 to the charge of selling girls into "white slavery" and was sentenced to five years in the state prison. Information of his sentence was received here this morning by relatives of the girls in a letter from the district attorney at International Falls.MAD DOG SCARE HAS FRIGHTENED PEOPLEFour Residents of Marinette Were Bitten Yesterday and Taken to Madison.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Marquette, Wis., June 27.—This city has the world mad dog scare for years. Four people were bitten yesterday afternoon and were immediately rushed to the Pasteur institute at Madison for treatment.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, MONDAY, JUNE 27, 1910.

MOST POPULAR SUMMER RESORT OF ALL.

NO WILL LEFT BY A RICH CALIFORNIANMillion Dollar Estate of Lain Peter James Donahue Will Probably go to Nephews and Nieces.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)San Francisco, Cal., June 27.—In the probate court today a hearing was held in an application for letters of administration in the estate of Peter Donahue, the wealthy San Franciscan who died several months ago in the Isle of Wight, England.
Donahue was formerly a very well-known figure in San Francisco, but for more than twenty years he lived abroad. His father, the late James H.
Donahue, and his uncle, Peter Donahue, were the founders of the Union Iron Works.Peter James Donahue was declared an incompetent by the superior court of this city in 1905. At that time an inventory was filed showing that the value of his estate was over $1,250, 000. As he left no will it is expected that his estate will be divided equally between two nephews and two nieces.
One of the nephews is a resident of this city, while the other nephew and the two nieces reside in Ireland.ILLINOIS REFORMERS GATHER AT PEORIATo Discuss the Breakdown of Representative Government at a Non-Partisan Conference.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)Peoria, Ill., June 27.—Under the general caption, "The Breakdown of Representative Government in Illinois," numerous public-spirited citizens from all sections of the state gathered in Peoria today for a two days' non-partisan conference at which the recent alleged exposures of legislative corruption at Springfield are to be discussed.While no specific grievances were mentioned in the call for the conference, it is understood that the open hostility of the Illinois general assembly to progressive legislation is to be the general object of attack. The assembly is blamed for thwarting the popular movements to secure legislation enabling cities to adopt the commission form of government, to secure civil service, reform and improvements in election laws, reform in judicial procedure and perfection of a direct primary law.United States Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon and Winston Churchill, the New Hampshire author and political reformer, have accepted invitations to address the conference.
Senator Bourne is scheduled to speak on the "Oregon plan" of electing federal senators and Mr. Churchill will discuss the "short ballot."MUCH ANXIETY FELT OVER COMING FIGHTWith Battle of Century Due Few Days Off Trainers Becoming Desperate.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)Reno, Nevada, June 27.—With the battle of the century now only seven days away, signs of nervousness are beginning to develop among the men in both Jeffries' and Johnson's camps.
Jeffries is in fine shape, but his plan of battle is giving the trainers concern.
In contrast to the indifference shown by Jeffries, the activity in Johnson's camp is almost feverish, despite the hot sun.TAFT'S AUTO RUNS DOWN A WORKMANDriven by President's Son and Filled With His Companions—Man Badly Hurt.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)Beverly, Mass., June 27.—President
Taft's automobile, driven by his son, Robert, ran over and injured a Italian laborer today. The indications are that his skull was fractured. The machine contained Robert and two of his college friends.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

HELEN KELLAR IS THIRTY YEARS OLDLondon, June 27.—Roma Catholic energy and laymen from all parts of the United Kingdom are arriving in London to attend the consecration of the great Westminster cathedral. The ceremony of consecration will take place tomorrow and will be followed on Wednesday by a celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the re-establishment of the hierarchy of England.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

CONSECRATION OF GREAT CATHEDRALLondon, June 27.—Roma Catholic energy and laymen from all parts of the United Kingdom are arriving in London to attend the consecration of the great Westminster cathedral. The ceremony of consecration will take place tomorrow and will be followed
on Wednesday by a celebration of the
sixtieth anniversary of the re-establishment of the hierarchy of England.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

MAD DOG SCARE HAS FRIGHTENED PEOPLEFour Residents of Marinette Were Bitten Yesterday and Taken to Madison.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Hannover, N. H., June 27.—There was the usual large attendance of visitors at the class day exercises at Dartmouth College this afternoon.
President Warren C. Shaw of Lowell delivered the address of welcome, and B. A. Williams of Jackson, O., delivered the address of the class day.

Dartmouth College is the class day.

NAT'L GOVERNMENT ADJOURNS SINCE DIE

FIRST REGULAR SESSION SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS COMES TO CLOSE.

TAFT'S PROGRAM IS PASSED

President Signs Harbor Bill, But Objects to System in Virginia—Gore's Bribe Charges to Be Probed During Recess.

Washington, June 27.—With President Taft's legislative program practically carried out in its entirety the first regular session of the Sixty-first congress adjourned sine die, and the majority of its members have already left the city for their homes.

Signs Harbor Bill.

In the final hours the president signed the rivers and harbors bill, but sent a message to congress indicating that he had made up his mind to do so practically at the last minute of time at his disposal, so far as that measure was concerned.

Congress was warned that it must change its method of framing river and harbor improvement measures, and announcement is made that unless reforms which he suggests are carried out in future bills the withholding of executive approval will be justified, even though a rivers and harbors bill fail.

As there were deemed to be many meritorious and necessary projects provided for in this year's bill, the many defects which it also contained, the president asserted, did not justify, in his last analysis, postponement of the important work.

Post Bank Bill Signed.

The president also signed without comment the postal savings bank bill, the omnibus public building bill, the latter carrying authorization for improvements aggregating $23,000,000, but leaving the items of appropriation to be attended to later, in connection with the regular estimates of the treasury department with respect to work authorized by congress.

There was little work remaining to be done when the two houses of congress met for the last day of the session. Practically everything of importance had been attended to except the general deficiency appropriation bill, which had become involved in the charges of attempted bribery made by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. The upshot of the recommitting of the last of the big appropriation measures to conference was the adoption of an amendment more drastic even than the Oklahoma senator had desired, providing that no contracts heretofore or hereafter made affecting the tribal money or property of the Indian tribes shall be approved until further action by congress.

Pass Deficiency Bill.

With this amendment, following the adoption of a resolution in the senate to have the Indian affairs committee investigate the contracts involved in the Gore charges, the general deficiency bill was passed by both houses.

The one thing left pending, as it were, when congress adjourned was the Appalachian forest reserve measure, upon which opponents in the senate prevented a vote. The measure passed the house and by agreement it will be the order of unfinished business in the senate on February 15, 1911.

In the rush of the closing minutes the senate refused to grant Senator Cullom's request for an executive session, and the appointments for Illinois, which Mr. Cullom and Mr. Lorimer had agreed upon, failed of confirmation.

Will Go to Beverly.

For ten days after the president reached his summer home at Beverly, according to an announcement made at the White House, he will attend to no business matters—make no appointments and have no political conference, devoting the time to rest and recreation. The president expects to leave Washington Tuesday evening, arriving at the summer capital the following morning.

Land Inquiry Ordered.

The only touch of excitement in the closing hours of the house came when Representative McGuire of Oklahoma arose to a question of personal privilege and offered a resolution directing an investigation of the charges of fraud and bribery in Indian contracts. A substitute amendment, offered by Representative Carter of the same state, more specific and stronger, was preferred by the house after protracted debate, which developed nothing of importance, except a widespread sentiment that a thorough inquiry should be made and the results reported to the house at the next session.

McLean County Loses Judge.

Bloomington, Ill., June 27.—McLean county's plan to secure a probate judge by reaching the 70,000 mark was given a quietus when the official announcement was made by the census bureau that the county contained but 68,000, a gain of only 200 in ten years.

ANXIOUS FOR HUGHES TO RUN.

Reported Roosevelt Will Ask New Yorker to Run Again.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 27.—Now York politicians will be the topic for discussion when Governor Hughes comes to Sagamore Hill.

Mr. Roosevelt declines to enter into a discussion of political matters, but from an absolutely authentic source it is learned that the former president will impress upon Governor Hughes that the Republican party cannot hope for success in New York state unless he consents to accept a nomination for a third term.

NO PRAISE FOR CANNON.

No words of praise were sung nor votes of thanks offered in appreciation of the services of Speaker Cannon. The Democratic members and the insurgent Republicans sat silently in their chairs when a few minutes before the hour set for final adjournment Mr. Cannon bated the proceedings to announce the approaching end of the session, which he described as an important and strenuous one.

"Virile man, acting in a great representative body, earnest, positive and somewhat irritable," declared the speaker, "was in moments of excitement make declarations and be guilty of conduct which in calmer moments he regrets. At this session is about to close, as one member of the house said an speaker," continued Mr. Cannon, "as we journey from Washington to our homes, I shall put behind me the contests through which the house has passed without malice. I have nothing to apologize for as member of the house or as speaker."

Billion Dollars Voted.

More than a billion dollars was appropriated at the present session, if continuing appropriations are incorporated in the totals of the general appropriation measures.

Definite figures concerning the appropriations will be issued from the house and senate committees within a few days. In so far as the figures could be obtained, from measures which underwent changes in the last hours of the session, the total of the appropriation, exclusive of continuing appropriations, was $894,086,043. The amount of the continuing appropriations for the last fiscal year was about $100,000,000. It is safe to say that it will not be less for the next fiscal year, and the grand total therefore will aggregate at least $1,004,000,000.

ROBBERS SLAY TWO IN STREET.

Bandits Kill Manufacturer and Postman—Steal $5,000—Captured.

Lynn, Mass., June 27.—Three bandits, armed with automatic magazine revolvers, shot and instantly killed Thomas A. Landregan, a shot manufacturer, and Police Officer James H. Carroll and ran away with a bag containing $5,000, which the manufacturer and policeman were taking from a bank to the shoe factory of Welch & Landregan for the weekly pay roll.

The robbery was committed on a busy thoroughfare in the heart of the shoe manufacturing district. Hardly had the noise of the revolver shots and the powder smoke cleared away before the bandits were fleeing from an unorganized house of 10,000 people. An hour later one of the bandits was dead from a self-inflicted wound, a second was in the hospital with five bullet wounds, while the third was under arrest. Abraham Lyons, who was wandering through the woods, was shot in the thigh by one of the robbers, who mistook him for a pursuer.

All but $7 of the money that was stolen by the robbers was recovered.

The bandits were Russian Poles, their ages ranging from twenty to twenty-five years.

MAKES SWEETHEART HIS HEIR.

Idaho Woman Hears Former Lover Leaves Her $7,000,000.

Spokane, Wash., June 27.—Mrs. Dolly Baker of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, is said to be heiress to $7,000,000. Twenty years ago she said good-bye to her girlhood sweetheart, Arthur H. Travers, in Montana, and he journeyed to Australia. The girl grew tired of waiting and married Judge W. J. Grout, later divorcing him and marrying Baker. Now comes word that Travers became a cattle king in Australia, cleared up $7,000,000 and died, leaving all to Mrs. Baker.

CAPTURE NICARAGUAN TOWNS.

Provisional Forces Take Julguapa, La Libertad and San Ubaldo.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, June 27.—A column of the provisional forces under General Arsenio Cruz has captured La Libertad and Julguapa, important towns in the department of Chontales. This column is part of General Men's army. General Colon, another provisional, has taken San Ubaldo, defeating 200 Madrid soldiers who were on their way to reinforce General Vasquez.

INDICTMENT IS BREAD.

The indictment against Browne, Wilson, Hirshheimer and Traut is broad and charges that the four men conspired to promise, pay, give and present Representatives H. J. C. Beckemeyer, Michael S. Link and Charles A. White with certain sums of money to cast or withhold their votes on certain measures under consideration by the Forty-sixth general assembly.

Browne and Wilson were indicted on the conspiracy charge as members of the general assembly who distributed portions of the "Jackpot" to Beckemeyer, Link and White. Traut and Hirshheimer were included as persons who directed the disposal of the fund collected for the duh bill "Jackpot."

A. G. Spalding Out for Senate.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—A. G. Spalding of San Diego, formerly of Chicago, head of the big Chicago sporting goods house, agreed to run for the United States senate providing the campaign expenses are limited, paid through a trustee and he can stay at home.

COULDN'T STAND NIGHT RIDERS.

Kentucky Judge, Moving to Illinois, Says Hostility Was Too Much.

Eddyville, Ky., June 27.—Unwilling longer to undergo the unpleasantness which made a part of his daily life in Eddyville, Judge W. L. Crumbaugh, formerly county judge of Lincoln county, will remove from Kentucky to Metropolis, Ill. Judge Crumbaugh has been the subject of bitter attack by the night riders and has been threatened with death if he did not cease his efforts to convict the men who were guilty of outrages in Lincoln county. Judge Crumbaugh declares he has no fear of the night riders, but he says it is not pleasant to live where there is such open hostility to him.

McLEAN COUNTY LOSSES JUDGE.

Bloomington, Ill., June 27.—McLean county's plan to secure a probate judge by reaching the 70,000 mark was given a quietus when the official announcement was made by the census bureau that the county contained but 68,000, a gain of only 200 in ten years.

ANXIOUS FOR HUGHES TO RUN.

Reported Roosevelt Will Ask New Yorker to Run Again.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 27.—Now

York politicians will be the topic for discussion when Governor Hughes comes to Sagamore Hill.

Mr. Roosevelt declines to enter into a discussion of political matters, but from an absolutely authentic source

it is learned that the former president will impress upon Governor Hughes that the Republican party cannot hope for success in New York state unless he consents to accept a nomination for a third term.

THREE DIE WHEN HOTEL BURNS.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., June 27.—The Hotel Burns, at Seneca Falls, N. Y., is destroyed by fire.

Auburn, N. Y., June 27.—Three lives lost and a dozen thrilling escapes before daylight marked the mysterious burning of the Seneca hotel at Seneca

Falls. The dead are Mr. and Mrs.

Edward White of Rochester and an unknown tramp, who is alleged to have caused the fire by going to bed with a lighted pipe. The flames for a time threatened to burn up the entire village. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

NO PRAISE FOR CANNON.

No words of praise were sung nor votes of thanks offered in appreciation of the services of Speaker Cannon.

The Democratic members and the insurgent Republicans sat silently in their chairs when a few minutes before the hour set for final adjournment Mr. Cannon bated the procedures to announce the approaching end of the session, which he described as an important and strenuous one.

"Virile man, acting in a great representative body, earnest, positive and somewhat irritable," declared the speaker, "was in moments of excite-

FIVE ARE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

TRUE BILLS FOUND AGAINST LEE O'NEIL BROWNE AND FOUR OTHERS.

BAIL IS FIXED AT $10,000

Sangamon County Grand Jury Probe Into Legislative Scandal Results in More Indictments Which Will Have Far-Reaching Effect.

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—Indictments were returned by the Sangamon county grand jury charging conspiracy to commit bribery. The following were indicted:

Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, Ottawa, conspiracy to bribe;

Representative Robert E. Wilson, Chicago, conspiracy to bribe;

Frank J. Trout, Beardstown, conspiracy to bribe;

Louis D. Hirshheimer, Pittsfield, conspiracy to bribe;

A. B. Johnston, Springfield, bribery and perjury.

The return of the indictments created a sensation that rivaled the confession of State Senator D. W. Holbrook of Luka to the effect that he had received $2,500 from State Senator Broderick for his vote for Mr. Lorimer and had been promised $1,500 for his vote on the furniture contract.

Effect is Sensational.

The developments are especially sensational because Minority Leader Browne of Ottawa, who is awaiting the verdict of the Chicago jury on the charge of bribery in connection with the Lorimer election, was included in the indictments.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal. State's Attorney Burke is of the opinion there can be no successful contention against the trial of Browne in this county because of lack of jurisdiction. His indictment grows out of the evidence submitted by Representatives Beckemeyer and Link.

The indictments are especially sensational because Minority Leader Browne of Ottawa, who is awaiting the verdict of the Chicago jury on the charge of bribery in connection with the Lorimer election, was included in the indictments.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal.

State's Attorney Burke is of the opinion there can be no successful contention against the trial of Browne in this county because of lack of jurisdiction. His indictment grows out of the evidence submitted by Representatives Beckemeyer and Link.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal.

State's Attorney Burke is of the opinion there can be no successful contention against the trial of Browne in this county because of lack of jurisdiction. His indictment grows out of the evidence submitted by Representatives Beckemeyer and Link.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal.

State's Attorney Burke is of the opinion there can be no successful contention against the trial of Browne in this county because of lack of jurisdiction. His indictment grows out of the evidence submitted by Representatives Beckemeyer and Link.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal.

State's Attorney Burke is of the opinion there can be no successful contention against the trial of Browne in this county because of lack of jurisdiction. His indictment grows out of the evidence submitted by Representatives Beckemeyer and Link.

The true bills will have a far-reaching and important effect in many angles of the legislative bribery scandal.

The Janesville Gazette

New Bldg., 200-204 N. Milwaukee St.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESEVILLE, WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

THE WEATHER

AND THE HUNGRY
MOTH WITHIN THE BELL TOWER FOR A CHANCE AT THE WINTER GRANITES
HIS HER REASONS TOOK DURING GLAD SUMMER HAS GONE.Partly cloudy
tonight;
cooler in southeast;
Tuesday fair.

SENATOR GORE'S DOOMERANG.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma gained recognition and more or less notoriety in Washington early in his career, because of his blindness, and courses not usually extended to new members brought him into prominence. The blind senator is a democrat and poses as a reformer. The sensation which he sprung in the Senate, when that body was on the eve of adjournment, was a well thought out plan, and whatever may be back of it, the political effect has accomplished its purpose and campaign thunder has been furnished for stump oratory.

Senator Gore is a lawyer. When his charges are investigated it will doubtless be found that he was offered a liberal fee by a client, which he declined, because of his official position.

The question which naturally comes to the surface is, why did he wait until the last day in the afternoon to advertise his virtue, and cast a cloud of suspicion over men who have been prominent in the ranks of the republican party?

GAZETTE MAY CIRCULATION.

Sworn circulation statement of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette for May, 1910.

DAILY.
Days. Copies. Days. Copies.
1..... 5304
2..... 5313
3..... 5311
4..... 5308
5..... 5309
6..... 5304
7..... 5305
8..... 5311
9..... 5305
10..... 5305
11..... 5305
12..... 5301
13..... 5314
14..... 5303
15..... 5301
16..... 5322
17..... 5303
18..... 5321
19..... 5303
Total 138,017
138,017 divided by 26, total number of issues, 5308 Daily average.SEMI-WEEKLY.
Days. Copies. Days. Copies.
4..... 1760
5..... 1760
6..... 1748
7..... 1748
8..... 1748
9..... 1748
10..... 1748
11..... 1748
12..... 1748
13..... 1748
14..... 1748
Total 11,078 divided by 8, total number of issues, 1388 Semi-Weekly average.

This is a correct report of the circulation of the Janesville Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette for May, 1910, and represents the actual number of papers printed and circulated.

H. H. BLISS,
Business Mgr.Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of June, 1910.
MARTHA WENDT,
(Seal) Notary Public.

My commission expires Aug. 17, 1913.

SELF-PRESERVATION.

A railroad employee in Chicago, takes exception to an editorial which recently appeared in the Tribune, and writes the following letter which is significant, as it presents a side of the case not often considered. The letter follows:

"It may be true, as the Tribune asserts in a recent editorial on the question of rate increase, that if the railroads see fit to discharge employees, it is exclusively an affair of theirs, but it is nevertheless a matter in which the employees are vitally concerned.

"Their interests and the welfare of their families are so deeply involved in the issue with the railroads that they naturally look with alarm and anxiety upon the threatening attitude of the people and their representatives towards the industry from which they derive their living as foreboding the direst consequences to themselves, and they would be untrue to those dependent upon them for support if they did not come to the aid of their employers by throwing their whole political strength into the contest.

"They are as capable of reasoning from cause to effect as any other class, and they need not to be told that if the railroads are to be continually harassed and restricted in their operations by unwise, unjust, and retrograde legislation it will be necessary to curtail expenses and the employee will be called upon to bear their full share of the burden, not because the railroads desire it should be so, but because the condition of their revenues will afford no other solution of the difficulty.

"Will the government of the United States or the people provide for the discharged employees and their families until employment can be found elsewhere, or will the railroads be compelled to keep them whether their revenues provide sufficient means to pay them or not?

"These questions naturally come home to the employees, and they are beginning to think it is about time to take some measures for the protection of their interest as individuals.

"Railroads have not made it a practice in the past to add employees to engage in politics in their behalf, and they are not likely to do that now, and the employees have taken no part in politics save only individuals, but there is no reason why they should not do so.

"The employees must initiate the movement themselves and vote and work for men as representatives of the whole people, who believe in railroads as so much entitled to justice under our government as a private individual.

"Self-preservation is the first law of nature and if it becomes necessary to use their political strength in behalf of their employers and thereby protect their own interests, no argument is necessary to convince them to do their plain duty under such circumstances."

E. R. CARNELL.

The railroad employee, like every other employee, can afford to be loyal to his employer, and it is safe to say that the sentiment expressed by Mr. Carnell will be endorsed to the army of men in railway employ.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

By WALTER MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

When I have told my drollest tale, and laughter nearly blinds me, some man whose yarns are THAT old and stale, will REMINDS ME, say: "Now, that reminds me." And then he'll spring an anecdote, some prodigal story, with whiskeys that would shame a goat, some chestnut weird and hairy. And though I'm gentle, meek and mild, it never fails to grab me, when some one, by my yarns beguiled, remarks: "Now, that reminds me." Bad taste like that just makes me sore; I think it rude and shocking; I always like to have the floor, and corner all the talkers. It always makes my heart rejoice, and stirs my stagnant liver, to hear my own sweet silvery voice go prattling on forever. And I, I can't understand why folks, when I am all alone, should wish to spring their own chestnut jokes, and interrupt my jawing. And yet, when I am at my best, some cheap John always finds me, and pokes his finger in my vest, and says: "Say, that reminds me."

TAFT HAS MADE GOOD.

The critics of President Taft have improved every opportunity to belittle him, and have not hesitated to accuse him of weakness and inability. That these attacks were unwarranted and wholly without foundation is now apparent, for the present session of congress has accomplished more by way of constructive legislation than any session during the past twenty years.

Party platform pledges have been redeemed and to this fact is largely due the tact and persistency of a level-headed president, inspired by common sense and honesty. The people will endorse this man in spite of critics. An exchange has this to say of the disgruntled press represented by the Chicago Tribune, Collier's, and many other publications of this class.

"For months an erring press egged on an impudent public to believe that the republican majority in congress was shot to pieces, the president without influence and the administration program in fulfillment of the party's pledges, down and out.

"Today that press stands convicted as a fake and lying prophet.

"Against the opposition of faithless partisans in congress and a divided public without, William Howard Taft has made good and the republican majority in congress has delivered the goods."

"Not since the Civil war has a congress accomplished so much constructive and progressive legislation, not within knowledge has a congress redeemed so many party pledges at a single session."

"Perhaps those American citizens who unjustly criticized the president early in the year now realize that noise, bluster and threats are not necessary to accomplishment in the executive chair, that the Taft methods can be counted on to get results, that earing, restless, backbiting press is not the most reliable guide to public opinion."

A GOOD ENDORSEMENT.

A republican candidate for office does not usually receive democratic endorsement, but the republican candidate for attorney general, Henry A. Gunderson of Portage, was favored with the following complimentary notice from his home democratic paper:

"Nineteen years ago Henry A. Gunderson left the home of Henry A. to become a lawyer. The habit of industry he there formed coupled with native ability has made him a great lawyer and a great, fearless district attorney.

"Mr. Gunderson is a lawyer first, and a politician afterwards, and the only fault we have to find with him is that he is a republican and not a democrat.

"The republicans have an opportunity this year to nominate a great lawyer for attorney general. Will they do it?"

Mr. Gunderson has been the district attorney of Columbia county for the past six years. His candidacy is strongly endorsed by the Columbia county bar and the board of supervisors. He is the only republican candidate for the office of attorney general, who has declared his loyalty to Taft and the administration, and he represents the principles with which the loyal republicans of the state are in sympathy.

"Mr. Gunderson is an original genius."

"I know it. His wife says he was that way when he courted her. Instead of proposing in the usual way he told her he wanted the right to look her waist down the back."

"Uncle Jim" Cannon expresses himself as well satisfied with the work of the Janesville Gazette.

"The employees must initiate the movement themselves and vote and work for men as representatives of the whole people, who believe in railroads as so much entitled to justice under our government as a private individual.

"Self-preservation is the first law of nature and if it becomes necessary to use their political strength in behalf of their employers and thereby protect their own interests, no argument is necessary to convince them to do their plain duty under such circumstances."

E. R. CARNELL.

The railroad employee, like every other employee, can afford to be loyal to his employer, and it is safe to say that the sentiment expressed by Mr. Carnell will be endorsed to the army of men in railway employ.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

By WALTER MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

When I have told my drollest tale, and laughter nearly blinds me, some man whose yarns are

THAT old and stale, will REMINDS ME, say: "Now, that

Improvements For Artificial Teeth

I am making beautiful and practical sets of teeth these days. If your old plate is loose and rattling it probably is because your gums shrunk away. A new impression will give your teeth a nice tight fit. Don't put up any longer with the continual annoyance of your misfit teeth.

How would you like the appearance of a perfect gold filling in one of the front teeth of your artificial set?

It makes them look natural and adds to the beauty and attractiveness of your personal appearance. I can do this work skillfully. The cost is not much and the improvement is wonderful.

I extract teeth painlessly.

Dr. F. T. Richards

GRADUATE DENTIST.
Office over Hall & Saylor's Jewelry Store.

ESTABLISHED 1855.

THE

First National Bank

OUR GUARANTY TO DEPOSITORS:

55 years record of safe banking.

More than $250,000 of our own capital always in the business for your protection.

A board of directors made up of men of business experience who give constant attention to the affairs of the bank.

Special For Tomorrow

Pot Roasts of Beef,
Plate Stews.

J. F. Schooff

THE MARKET ON THE SQUARE.

Both Phones.

PITCHFORK ASSAULT CASE IS CONTINUED

Hearing Held Over Until Wednesday and Request to Reduce Bail is Denied.

John Newbauer, now under arrest for stabbing Henry Baum in the breast with a pitch fork Wednesday evening, appeared in municipal court this morning for preliminary examination. Through his attorney, Chas. W. Reerer, he asked for a continuation of the case which was agreed to by District Attorney Fisher and the hearing was postponed until Wednesday morning. Judge Field however, refused to allow the bonds to be reduced in order to set Newbauer at liberty as the victim is said to be somewhat worse today. He was unable to be present in court and it was thought unwise to liberate Newbauer under bonds for assault with intent to do great bodily harm when change in Baum's condition may necessitate a more serious charge.

DR. BEATON HAS DECLINED A CALL

To the Presidency of Ripon College—Announcement Was Made Yesterday Morning.

Dr. David Beaton announced to his parishioners at the Congregational church yesterday morning that he had declined call to the presidency of Ripon college and he accepted the announcement with an expression of high appreciation of his present field of endeavor which was extremely gratifying to every listener. It is understood that the position offered him carries with it a larger salary than he now commands and various other inducements. Ripon College is a non-sectarian institution founded in 1850. There were 22 instructors and 270 students last year.

RECKLESS DRIVING RESULTS IN ARREST

Stanley Yonce Pleads Not Guilty to the Charge and His Hearing is Set for Saturday.

Stanley Yonce was arrested this morning for violating the speed ordinance. The specific date and place is given as June 18th on Washington street and the complainant is a man who alleges the car driven by young Yonce nearly ran over his children. This afternoon Yonce was represented in court by Attorney William Smith and a plea of not guilty entered. The hearing was set for Saturday next.

RODMAN-LAMB CIVIL CASE WAS BEGUN THIS MORNING

Panel Drawn For Action Brought For Wages Alleged Due For Services As Nurse.

In municipal court this morning, Attorneys J. J. Cunningham and T. S. Nolan, representing the principals in the civil suit brought by Susan Rodman against James R. Lamb for wages alleged to be due for services as nurse, began preparations to try the case. A panel was drawn but at a late hour today the jury had not been selected.

BRIEF LOCAL NOTES.

Don't fail to take advantage of the many articles offered in each department at June Special prices. T. P. Burns.

All W. C. T. U. ladies are especially invited to attend the Prohibition County Convention for Rock Co., which has been called to meet in the city hall on Tuesday, June 28, at 10 a. m. J. Burritt Smith of Milwaukee, state chairman, will tell of the work being done in the state.

Great reduction in trianted military at Miss Feely's.

The carnival which is to convey the members of the Eastern Star to Edgerton tomorrow afternoon will be at Baker's corner at 3:30.

A tempting club supper has been prepared at the Golf Club for Tuesday evening. Notification should be given at once to the chef by those planning on going.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Leave for Eau Claire: County Clerk Howard W. Lee, in company with Grant D. Harrington, Clerk of Walworth County and J. W. Stewart, Clerk of Green County, left this morning for Eau Claire to attend the convention of the county clerks of the state which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ball Team Here: Fourteen members of the Green Bay baseball team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league were registered at the Grand Hotel last night, en route for Fond du Lac from Rockford, where they defeated the Forest City Leaguers yesterday in an eleven inning game, 5 to 2.

Small Fire: Several old boxes in the rear of Martin Hessens' saloon on W. Milwaukee St., caught fire last night shortly after twelve o'clock and the fire department, responding to a still alarm, put the blaze out without any trouble.

Divorce Granted: Judge Grimm came here from Jefferson this morning and granted two interlocutory decrees of divorce. Mary Arnold was legally separated from Monroe Arnold with the right to resume her maiden name of Mary Smith. Emma McCarty secured a divorce from Daniel McCarty, custody of the children, and title to the household furniture and her recent husband was commanded to pay $50 attorney's fees and costs of the action and commencing on August 1, $12 a month alimony.

Do Not Drown: Skating on asphalt has one advantage over skating on ice—nobody breaks through the asphalt.

Sum of Mortal Happiness: The sum of all that makes a just man happy consists in the well choosing of his wife.—Massinger.

Advertising is the silent drummer that tells the public what the business man wants it to know about the goods he has for sale—an injection of advertising into the value of trade grows the business heart.

BRIEF PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Marjory Wilder of Pueblo, Colo., is the guest of Miss Susie Jeffreys at her home on South Jackson Street.

Otto A. Storm, head polisher at the Janesville Platting Works, has resigned and gone to La Crosse to take a similar position in a large plant there.

Mrs. G. H. Rumrill is enjoying an outing at Camp Ferndale, New Auburn, Wis.

Howard Banch and Miss Gladys Hodges spent Sunday at Delavan Inn.

Mrs. Lulu Belle Smith was a Beloit visitor Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dreyer, Miss Letta and Elmer Dreyer leave in a few days for their future home in Chicago. Miss Letta Dreyer will enter Saturday. They are: R. C. Craig of Indianapolis, Mr. Ford of Columbus, the Messers. Carpenter and Johnson of Indianapolis, R. W. Dally of Decatur, A. Anderson of Peoria, A. N. and F. S. Hall of Aurora, D. W. Conway of Antigo, C. A. Haas, M. E. Stern, and A. J. Bogley of Minneapolis, George G. Gibbs and C. C. McKee of Sioux Falls, J. D. Hogg, J. E. Marsh, and J. F. McCarron of Omaha, C. S. Shaker of Kansas City, A. J. Holter of Des Moines, and Hugh M. Crusk of Cedar Rapids.

John Kruse returned to work today after being laid up for six weeks with an injured toe that was bent so severe that the toe had to be amputated.

Thomas Evans of Clinton, who in the city Saturday.

The Misses Nora Keenley and Mayme Conlon of Faulkton, South Dakota, are visiting with Mrs. Mayme Spohn.

Harold Schwartz and John Kimball have started for a trip on the Great Lakes, from Mackinaw to Georgian Bay and through to Buffalo and return.

Thomas Tregeling of Evans, Colorado, and his son, C. H. Tregeling of Milwaukee, are Janesville visitors. The latter is conductor on the C. & St. P. road and formerly made his headquarters here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pomroy of Anholt are Janesville visitors.

G. W. Blanchard of Edgerton was in the city today.

The Misses B. Hansberry and L. A. Aven of Beloit were Janesville visitors last evening.

R. J. Falk and O. J. Foster of Stoughton were in the city last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Foster of Watertown were in the city Saturday night.

Bon G. Culvin of Madison was in the city Saturday evening.

Charles Bentley of Edgerton is visiting friends in the city today.

George A. Jacobs is in Stoughton today on business.

Mrs. S. C. Burdick of Highland Ave., who has been ill for the past few weeks, is reported to be improving slowly.

Leonard Schubert of Madison spent Sunday here with his brother, Andrew Schubert.

C. B. Hontelle of Edgerton is in the city today on business.

Geo. D. Simpson left this morning for Chicago.

J. W. Stewart of Monroe is a Janesville visitor today.

D. E. Thorpe of Milton Jet., is the son of his brother, A. C. Thorpe, today.

W. V. Wheeloek left last night for Springfield, Ill., on business.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Moyer of East Milwaukee street, expect to leave at the end of the week for a week's visit with Mr. Moyer's parents in Flint, Mich.

John Dawson has returned from a week's vacation at Hartland, Wis., where he attended the wedding of his brother, James Dawson, to Miss Frances Campbell.

Can Tops, 15c doz.

Strawberries, 15c.

Pineapples, 15c.

Orange Spoons, 15c.

Beets, Lettuce, Radishes, 15c.

3 Campbell's Soups, 25c.

Gold Medal Flour, $1.50.

Marvel Flour, $1.50.

Corner Stone Flour, $1.50.

Kern's Success Flour, $1.40.

Rye Flour, 25c sk.

Quaker Whole Wheat 18c.

Oranges, Lemons, 15c.

Best 50c Tea on Earth, 15c.

Best 25c Coffee on Earth, 15c.

3 lbs. Hummer 20c Coffee 50c.

Richelieu Coffee, 35c.

Shaker Salt, 15c.

Welch's Grape Juice, 15c.

Japanese Crab Meat, 30c.

Cooking Butter, 24c lb.

New Shelled Walnuts, 35c lb.

3 Borden's Eagle Milk, 5c.

Van Camp's Milk, 5c and 10c.

Mapleine Flavoring Extract, 15c.

3 Price's Vanilla, Lemon, Assorted Extracts and Fruit Coloring, 25c.

Ice Cream Salt, 10c.

4 lbs. Old Dutch Cleanser, 25c.

6 Fairy Soap, 25c.

6 Galvanic Soap, 25c.

6 Sunny Monday Soap, 25c.

3 Lewis Lye 25c.

Fresh Uneeda Biscuit, 6c.

20c can Pimontos, 10c.

20c can Plums, 10c.

Pure Fruit Jelly, 10c.

Gallon Jugs Catsup, 6c.

Home Baking, 15c.

Homo Cookies and Doughnuts, 15c.

Try Royal Luncheon Cheese, 10c, 15c, 20c jars.

B. & M. Fish Flakes, 10c can.

Pure Codfish Flakes—ready to use.

Black or tan Paste Shoe Polish, 10c.

GRAIN INSURANCE

MEETINGS HELD

[REFUGEE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Peoria, Ill., June 27.—Delegates from nearly all of the middle and western states are attending the annual convention of the Association of Grain Insurance Companies of the United States, which began a three-day session here today.

Dedrick Bros.

—

Dedrick Bros.

REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

Improbable That the Question of Saloon Licenses Will Come up This Evening.

Although the common council, if so willed, might grant licenses to a number of saloon keepers at the regular meeting tonight, there is little likelihood that such action will be taken as all the liquor dealers have not yet had their applications published the required number, 6 times, and it is customary to pass on all the applications at one meeting. It is probable that a special meeting will be called for Thursday night in order that those to whom licenses are granted may reopen on the first day of the new license year which begins at midnight Thursday.

In view of the fact that Mayor Carle has already had some interesting sessions with a number of the saloon keepers with regard to the manner in which their business is conducted, it is possible that he may refuse to sign some of the licenses immediately and in consequence, not all of the dealers are on the agenda sent. Upon whom the ax may fall, is of course, unknown.

Other matters scheduled to come before the meeting are: a notice from former City Clerk A. E. Bridger that he has appealed his claim for $107.50, for services on the board of review, to the circuit court and the board of Oscar Hand to run a second hand store on N. Main St.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of The Janesville Machine Company will be held in its office at Janesville, Wisconson, on Tuesday, July 10th, 1910, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors for the ensuing year and to transact any other business that may come before the meeting.

THOS

IN THE ANATOMY OF ADVERTISING

Three Bones Are Notably Conspicuous--

The Wishbone, the Backbone and Alas! the Sparerib

The WISHBONE'S function is to create a desire for better advertising—for more business, for a larger field.

The BACKBONE supplies the nerve required to realize the ambitions of the Wishbone.

The SPARERIB suggests to the short-sighted advertiser that anything he can pare off his advertising appropriation is really and truly economy.

Some men have a strong sparerib and a weak backbone.

Instances are rife, right here in Janesville, where the very smallness of the advertising outlay is the weakest feature of the advertising campaign.

Men who expect $5.00 per month worth of advertising to get results that they would be willing to pay $50 for are the first to complain that business is dull or that advertising doesn't pay.

Real advertisers who know advertising—advertisers with backbone enough to give advertising a decent trial, spend 1-1/2% to 5% of their gross receipts for the year.

Less than six retail firms in Janesville have an outlay of 2% for advertising.

Advertising is of Two Kinds-- Creative and Competitive

CREATIVE ADVERTISING goes out into the city, the rural routes, the suburbs, the country towns and the crossroads, and makes friends for the advertisers. It acquaints people with the store, with the merchandise. It educates people to buy better goods. It tells of the store's policies and it MAKES business for the store.

COMPETITIVE ADVERTISING meets the competition of rival stores, of mail order houses and of out of town stores.

Most really successful advertisers must undergo an operation on the "SPARERIB."

Every advertising success has a man behind it with a backbone strong enough to make an appropriation large enough to make it a success.

In most any retail business in Janesville a 2% outlay for advertising will bring an increase to the advertiser in one or two years that would be simply astounding.

Cases are known in Janesville and in many other cities in every State in the Union where seemingly impossible "Gains" have been made on no larger appropriation.

Are YOU interested enough in increasing your business to give it a decent advertising campaign?

Most merchants THINK they are—but they "aren't."

Yet these same merchants make the remark, "Oh! we must advertise a little all the time."

If a little is a good thing—

A Big Campaign Will Bring You a Big Gain

Optimist's Corner
Daily Helps to Health and Happiness
By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A.M.M.D.

George Elliot said: "I've been a great deal happier since I have given up thinking about what is easy and pleasant, and being discontented because I couldn't have my own will. Our life is determined for us, and it makes the mind very free when we give up wishing and only think of bearing what is laid upon us and doing what is given to us."

Each day will bring to us something that we can never do so well again; it may be some special task, some kind act, but whatever each day brings us, no matter how difficult or disagreeable the task, let us do it ungrudgingly and cheerfully. Put your heart into it; do your best; don't shirk, and you will find that each day's work will bring you happiness. Start out in the morning with a supply of sympathy to dispense during the day; a sunny smile "that won't come off," an overflowing fund of enthusiasm and an eagerness to do your work to-day better than you ever did it, and I promise you that you will return home in the evening happier than you have been for months. Glad endeavor, sympathy, and cheerfulness are enormous factors in building up a happy and healthy life.

Early Conditions Important.
Artists say that the surroundings of the child determine whether or not he may become an artist. Illusive surroundings warp and twist the perception of the beautiful so that in later life the child cannot compete with those who have enjoyed a more artistic environment.

McNAUL'S
Very Thin
Quick Drying
Prevents Rust Fine on Iron or Wood

Nothing like it, nothing so good, no auto outfit complete without it. Ask McNaul and Sheldon Hdws. Co.

Beautiful Cut Flowers

of many choice varieties in bloom at all times.

DOWNS FLORAL CO.
Milton and Prospect Aves.
We make prompt and accurate deliveries.
BOTH PHONES.
Street car passes our door.

Talcum Powder
Elegantly perfumed

25c for a 1 lb.
Package

You use lots of Talcum this hot weather. Just the thing for the baby.

See our window.

Baker's Drug Store
Established 32 Years.

You Will Like It Better

every time you drink it. It is absolutely pure and is the best nourishment you can take.

It's clean, sweet and creamy—the genuine taste that only pure milk has. Pasteurization makes it that way.

Janesville Pure Milk Co.
BOTH PHONES.

Board of Review City of Janesville
Public Notice is hereby given that the Board of Review of the City of Janesville will meet at their office in the City Hall on the 4th day of July, 1910, at 6 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of reviewing and examining the assessments of real and personal property, and of certifying the same to the Board of Tax Commissioners, and of correcting all errors in said roll, either in the description of property or otherwise.

R. M. GUTHRIE, City Clerk
Dated Janesville, Wis., June 21st, 1910.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I HEAR that shirring is coming back into style," I said.

I thought that a most mild, inoffensive remark, and was accordingly quite surprised when the dress-making lady who was squatting on the floor buttoning my skirt with the aid of mouthful of pins, nearly swallowed them in her effort to say something.

"Never!" she ejaculated, as soon as she had managed to extract sufficient of them to make speech safe and possible. "Never, I hope, Miss Cameron. Of all the ugly, hideous things you can do to a dress, shirring is the worst. There is nothing attractive about it. If the material is pretty, it up the fact that makes it more so. The only possible use of shirring is to show that you could afford to have some poor dressmaker put a lot of work into your gown."

Did I quail before this tirade that I had aroused? No, indeed; I was delighted. I realized the value of having gotten the dressmaking lady nicely started to talk on a subject on which she is such an authority, and did my best to spur her on to tell some of the other hideous and foolish mistakes women make in gowning themselves.

And here are some of the pearls of dressmaking wisdom that she let fall.

"Never let a yoke line stand up in the straight degree. That is absolutely fatal. The line should be straight or bow slightly downwards.

"In making the new overskirt dresses, if you have a coat of the same, be sure either that the coat covers the overskirt or that it is cut well above it, and that the skirt follows the line of the coat.

"Many of the shirt waists, even from the most expensive houses, do not have the shoulder seam far enough back on the shoulder. This is a very bad fault, as it makes the back much less straight.

"The broad bands on the skirts at the knees that so many people are wearing are absolutely impossible. They make your figure look skewed off and your feet look enormous.

"Nothing is uglier than a long sleeve. Never mind, even if your arms are thin. They will look better here than in the inartistic long sleeve. Have the sleeve just below the elbow, if that is painlessly thin, but have it stop there.

"Dutch necks are absolutely impossible. I don't care if everybody on the face of the globe wears them. They are not good style. They look as if you had either forgotten your collar or were trying to crawl out of your dress head first. You should either have a distinctly low neck or high collar. Half breeds aren't accepted in good society.

"Never make a princess dress without making the sleeves large and full. For some reason that accentuates the fine slender lines of the princess effect.

"Touches of black velvet on a light dress are extremely hideous. A belt of a separate color spoils a figure. A belt of the same color as the waist is poor taste, and of course, makes you short-waisted. If you want to look trim and have the best figure possible to you, always have the belt the same goods as the waist and, if possible, stitch it on."

"And as a summing up, as it were, a threading of all the pearls of wisdom onto a single string, I give the dress-making lady's final comment:

"The Paris models from the best houses, my dear, are never elaborate or fussy. They are made on severe lines and trimmed simply with some good embroidery. The whole thing is to have pretty goods and have it made on good lines."

Myself, I don't claim to know a tremendous lot about gowns but, having seen her products, I'm sure the dress-making lady does, so I humbly beg to offer you her suggestions.

Hints for the Home

By Rose Terrell.

With the first hot days comes the problem of tempting food, for the thrifty and work-mothers of the family, who must work all day whether the weather be warm or cold.

The housewife who has the family happiness at heart will be sorely pained as to tempting dishes for Jaded appetites.

In the first place the keeping of the house cool and clear of flies and annoying insects is one of the great problems. To keep the house cool on the warmest days open all the doors and windows at an early hour and keep open till it begins to grow warm.

Then close windows and doors on the sunny side of the house and draw the blinds down pretty low. If the doors are kept closed until the cooler evening hours the house will preserve an even and pleasant temperature on even very hot days. This is the method employed in all southern countries.

If the screens are defective, take them over and have springs placed on the doors and mend all broken places. The neatest method of mending who screen is to ravel out the edges of the patch you wish to place over the hole, which should be trimmed smoothly. Thread the extending ends of wire through the screening about the edges of the hole. These may be bent back and forth and under a neat, effective and almost invisible patch.

The matter of food is even more difficult to handle. A tempting but not too heavy breakfast should be provided. Toast and eggs with a bit of bacon and a dish of fruit is better than corned beef this season. Some people like cold cereals with fruit served at the same time. If this is served the breakfast could contain nothing else of a heavy nature.

THE INTERRUPTER.

By MARY HUNSELL.

The habit so many children have of interrupting their elders and each other is one that is most disagreeable and ill-bred.

The truth of thought that has been interfered with may not be very valuable. The world may not be any the worse for the loss of the ideas which goes flying with the advent of the little ardent creature who cannot wait to tell the great story of her mind.

The sense of impatience and loss that fills the one interrupted is doubtless out of all proportion, save that it is based on disapproval for the habit thus formed.

Children are more given to this habit than older people, but who does not know the person who either snatches the words out of one's mouth or speaks on entirely irrelevant subjects in the middle of your most finely turned period?

It is a very disagreeable habit to form and a most prolific one, inasmuch as it carries in its train a host of other habits as reprehensible.

The desire to say your own little will keep one from listening as intently as he should. It is the habit easy to train a child in the art of conversation.

We all have seen the miserable self-conscious child who blunders and grows dumb before older people. No one wants a child to be so retiring as that amounts to, but the child who will listen as well as talk is a delightful companion.

Impress upon them while they are young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are

young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some who are talkers only present, then some retiring individuals listen to a monologue.

Impress upon them while they are young, that conversation is made up of talkers and listeners. If there are some

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

New phone 938. Res. Hotel Myers.
WM. H. MC GUIRE, M. D.
204 Jackman Block,
Janesville, Wis.
Formerly from New York City.
Office Hours: 8 to 10 a. m.; 4 to 6 p. m.; 7 to 8:30 p. m.; Sundays 10 to 12 a. m.
Old phone 840.

STANLEY G. DUNWIDDIE

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Lovejoy Block. New phone 228.

FRANK C. BINNEWIES, M. D.
Successor to Corydon G. Dwight, M. D.
207 Jackman Block.

Practiced United to Par. Eye, Nose and Throat, Glasses Fitted. Consultation from 9 to 12 a. m., and 1 to 5 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30, and by appointment. All records and prescriptions for all cases will remain with me for future reference and use.

DR. J. V. STEVENS

Particular attention to diseases of children. Residence 917 Milton Ave. Both phones. Office suite 204 Jackman building. Hours 12 noon to 4 p. m., Wednesday and Saturday evenings 7 to 8. Other times by appointment.

A. SUMMERS & SON
GENERAL
Builders and ContractorsOld Phone 5153 New 656
14 N. Division St.

NOTICE

We have a large supply of second-hand lumber on hand, at a low price. Any one wishing same call at once.

ROSTEIN BROS.
64 S. River St.Cool Days for Business

No matter what the weather!

Everyone who has electricity at their disposal can be perfectly comfortable in the hottest weather.

Robbins & Myers
STANDARD Fans

(Advertising and Direct Current) are economical and efficient. The low operating expense as well as the small first cost put them within the reach of everyone.

The fan illustrated actually consumes about one-half the power used by the ordinary 10 C. P. lamp.

Standard Fans are made in all sizes and all types—desk, bracket, oscillating, ceiling fans, for houses, offices, stores, etc.

Janesville
Electric Co.TOBACCO GROWERS, ATTENTION!

The late frosts and continuous cold weather have greatly retarded the development of the tobacco buds. The outlook is not encouraging. The tobacco plants should be stimulated by fertilizing with Nitrate of Soda. A tablespoonful to a sprinkling can of water applied in the morning during cold days and in the evening on hot days. Nitrate of Soda is sold by the Badger Drug Co., Cor. Milwaukee and River streets. Mr. Pfennig would be pleased to give you further information about this or any insect, fungus or stock remedies you may need. Call in, we're always glad to help you out.

You need not suffer from sickness, and you need not fill yourself with drugs in order to be made well.

The great new science of Chiropractic (KI-RO-TRAK-TIC) has shown the world that you can be made well and to remain well if it is necessary to remove the cause of the affliction and that treating a symptom with a medicine is not as practical as the Chiropractic adjustments. Every nerve in the entire body is under control of every function and organ of the entire human system and every nerve (100,000,000 in all) pass through the spine. When certain nerves do not perform their functions you become sick. It is the way to remove the cause of the sickness to get at the nerves that are not working. This is done by Chiropractic adjustments of the spine. Almost every ailment is curable by the Chiropractic science. If you suffer from aches and pains, call for free consultation.

RAYMOND BUDDECOMBE, GRADUATE CHIROPRACTOR,
Office Hours 9 to 12 a. m., daily except Sunday 4:45 a. m. to 6 a. m.

PLAY BALL—See ad elsewhere.

BETTERMENT OF
CITY WAS TOPICDISCUSSED BY FOUR PASTORS AT UNION MEETING.

EXPECTED DIDN'T HAPPEN

Anticipated Direct Attack on Municipal Government of Janesville Was Not Forthcoming.

Contrary to expectations, no startling statements or revelations were forthcoming at the union meeting discussion of "City Betterment" at the Cargill M. E. church last evening. The sub-topics handled by two of the four ministers were not "landed." The remaining two were, but the speakers contented themselves with suggestion and veiled allusion when it came to making the head application of the principles they enunciated.

Law Enforcement."

Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of the Methodist church, opened the discussion with a ten minute address on "Law Enforcement." Without law younger men would sweep the city and individual men would grow to such dimensions that the earth could not accommodate them. Evil germs and microbes would multiply without restriction. All would be chaos.

"There are germs and microbes that prey on civic morals. There are some who say that you cannot make men righteous by law. That was in the saw-mill when I was a boy and they will still be sawing away on it when I am dead."

"When Nehemiah was governor of Jerusalem he saw that people were troubling the whippresses on the Sabbath and bringing them into the city to sell that day. I saw nothing about the charter of the city of Jerusalem or Nehemiah's oath of office, but he, as a wise and patriotic governor, asked why such things were done and he gave orders that the gates of the city be closed on that day and set men to watch the gates. And when he noticed that the trafficking still went on outside the walls, he made threats to seize the offenders, and these threats had the desired effect."

"Then and there he completed a notable reform by the omnipotence of law. If one live man could inaugurate a successful reform in Jerusalem, filled as it was with transients who were difficult to reach and regulate, then our mayor, aided by the right sort of a common council and a competent police force, can make civilization and regenerating influences potent in Janesville."

Physical Cleanliness."

"We are all agreed that Janesville is naturally a beautiful city," said Rev. J. C. Hazeon, pastor of the First Baptist church, in addressing himself to the subject: "Physical Cleanliness and Beauty in the City." "It has beautiful trees and homes; attractive business places and public buildings and church; a splendid river. The churches have strong, active congregations and the prevailing spirit is one upon which we are to be congratulated." Taken all in all, we have a delightful city.

"But even the sun has spots and the moon, its shadows. Nothing is without flaw excepting our street railway system."

"When I was in Dayton, Ohio, I was impressed by streets admirably laid out and lawns and doorways so beautifully kept that the flowers and grass plots seemed to be vying with each other to see which might hide all ugly angles and waste places more quickly. The management of great factories had offered prizes to promote beauty and cleanliness and an admirable spirit had been created."

"It was inevitable that I should receive a very different impression when I had occasion to observe Janesville's back alleys with their heaps and garbage and the poorly kept back yards in so many places and the untidy side-yards—even on "The Hill." When we who live in the valley go up on the hill we are apt to find places where we can travel the blocks without discovering any embankment; where the grass is knee high between the walks and street. And when one crosses the bridges he is apt to think what that beautiful river might have been if it had only been let alone to run its natural and delightful course."

"If every fellow will only take care of his own lawn and back-yard and side-yard, without delaying because this or that thing may be within the province of the city official or the landlord! And after we have done this, let's plant a shrub and each of us do what we can to make our own spot a beautiful one. And let's not stop there, but go on and do all we can to create a spirit for galliness and beauty. When we have done this it will be time enough to go to the city officials and talk about unsightly billboards. It lies within our power to make Janesville one of the most beautiful cities in the world."

"Morality As A Factor."

"I am a citizen of no mean city, one of the proud hosts of the Apostle Paul," said Dr. David Benton, pastor of the Congregational church, in opening his brief discussion of "Morality as a Factor in Business and Civic Prosperity." "That ought to be the boast of every man in every American city."

"A man's first duty is to his family. His second is to his church. And that man is no man at all who has not civic pride. From the layman's standpoint, at any rate, the first question seems to be not of morality but of success. I am not the minister's standpoint but suppose, for the sake of argument, that it be conceded that our first duty is to make our occupations and the trade and general interests of the city a success."

"James J. Hill is one of the greatest creative forces of the age. Here is his observation on business: 'In fifty years I have never found a transaction worth while that was brought about by deceit.' That is the experience of a man of imperial reach. It is a token of the youthful and undeveloped mind to believe that success may be achieved by circumventing the rest of the people. The man who is trying to build success on the false foundations of immorality is both a rogue and a fool."

"You have all heard of Manchester cottons. Manchester had the call in the markets of China and India as long as the name was a synonym for business integrity, and no longer. The insurance agent was in the same category as the old-time lightning rod agent until the business was put upon an honest and stable basis. You go into my community that is famous for the manufacture of some simple article and you will find that it's character and integrity put into the production of that article that carry weight."

"If Janesville is to be known for any article of manufacture or for the character of its professional and business men, it must be on this basis. The men of today are coming to a consciousness of the fact that old ideals have to give way; that those who cling to them are only the little-pot-foggers. Today is so scientific that if a man is to succeed the customer must feel that his word is his bond. We are interested in one thing or another not only because there's money in it, but because there's character in it."

"Some of you are in our churches two hours a week. If the preachers you engage in the rest of the week are in open defiance to all ethics, there can be no permanent success. For you are building your souls into what you manufacture. If Janesville is to be considered an honorable city, it must be because of what you produce."

"City Betterment."

The topic, "Religious Unity and City Betterment" had been assigned to Dr. J. W. Litchfield, pastor of the Presbyterian church. He said in opening that he did not think much of morality unless religion was at the bottom of it; unless one was cause and the other the effect; religion, the tree, and morality the fruit. Nehemiah rebuilt the wall around Jerusalem to protect the religious life. He put certain defenses around the Sabbath day and gave it a new meaning. He called the people together and made them promise to be present and worship. He gave such emphasis to this phase of the life of the people as to make them from that time on the religious instructors of the world."

"A man cannot be kindly disposed toward the people about him unless he is kindly disposed towards his Creator. This thing is necessary to the individual as well as the nation. As the inspiration of the best things in the world there is no substitute for religion. There is no comfort like it."

"What is true of the nation is true of the town. There are splendid people here. They will come into their own under the deepening effect of religion. The mislabeled feel that many of them are thoroughly determined; that they stand behind to help in the upbuilding of the moral and spiritual life of the community. May there never come a time when any one of the mislabeled shall fail to lead in any movement towards the better life!"

SOCIAL AT NURSES'
HOME THIS EVENING

Benefit Entertainment for Mercy Hospital Will Be Held at 18 Sinclair Street.

This evening at the home for nurses at 18 Sinclair street, a lawn social and entertainment for the benefit of the Palmer Memorial Mercy hospital will be given by the residents of the home in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars has already been collected for the hospital and it is hoped to increase this sum materially by the proceeds of the entertainment. Refreshments will be served on the lawn and the Imperial band will play. The program of the entertainment, for which a small admission fee will be charged, is:

Solo—Miss Geraldine M. Bruce.
Solo—Arthur Schoef.
Reading—Miss Mina Cutler.
Reading—Miss Ruth Humphrey.
Violin solo—Miss Wilma Barnes.

HIBERNIANS HAD A BIG TIME AT PICNIC

Annual Outing at Yonts Park on Saturday Attended by One Thousand and People.

One thousand people, it is estimated, attended the annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Yonts Park on Saturday. Favorable weather conditions and a fine program of sports made the occasion one of the most enjoyable outings ever given by the society. In the morning every fellow will only take care of his own lawn and back-yard and side-yard, without delaying because this or that thing may be within the province of the city official or the landlord! And after we have done this, let's plant a shrub and each of us do what we can to make our own spot a beautiful one. And let's not stop there, but go on and do all we can to create a spirit for galliness and beauty. When we have done this it will be time enough to go to the city officials and talk about unsightly billboards. It lies within our power to make Janesville one of the most beautiful cities in the world."

"Morality As A Factor."

"I am a citizen of no mean city, one of the proud hosts of the Apostle Paul," said Dr. David Benton, pastor of the Congregational church, in opening his brief discussion of "Morality as a Factor in Business and Civic Prosperity." "That ought to be the boast of every man in every American city."

"A man's first duty is to his family. His second is to his church. And that man is no man at all who has not civic pride. From the layman's standpoint, at any rate, the first question seems to be not of morality but of success. I am not the minister's standpoint but suppose, for the sake of argument, that it be conceded that our first duty is to make our occupations and the trade and general interests of the city a success."

"James J. Hill is one of the greatest creative forces of the age. Here is his observation on business: 'In fifty years I have never found a transaction worth while that was brought about by deceit.' That is the experience of a man of imperial reach. It is a token of the youthful and undeveloped mind to believe that success may be achieved by circumventing the rest of the people. The man who is trying to build success on the false foundations of immorality is both a rogue and a fool."

"You have all heard of Manchester cottons. Manchester had the call in the markets of China and India as

Your Success

depends on how you think and work.

Well nourished brains and nerves are absolutely necessary to successful thinking and working.

Many successful men all around you, can tell of the value of

Grape-Nuts

as a brain and nerve food. It is made of wheat and barley (including the phosphate of potash—grown in the grains) and supplies the very food Nature requires to rebuild the delicate gray substance in the Brain and Nerves.

You can safely make your morning meal on Grape-Nuts and cream, with an egg or two and some fruit.

"There's a Reason"

Postum Cereal Company, Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

the members of the order marched to St. Patrick's church where high mass was celebrated by Dean E. E. Kelly, after which the members, their families and friends took cars for the park, leaving at various hours during the day. In the first race for boys over sixteen years, Tipney won, and Gibble was second. The race for young ladies over 16 was won by Miss Blank, Miss Blow second, and Miss Bradley third. Mrs. L. Cronin was victorious in the fat ladies' race. Mrs. John Sheridan crossing the line behind her. A. Cronin and Britt were first and second in the small boys' race and M. Cronin and Hall were the winners in the race for youths under fourteen. The Parker Pen company defeated the Beloit Nationals 8 to 2 in the baseball game in the afternoon. Duncing was enjoyed by many of the young people in the evening.

President John Callan, who was to have delivered an address at the picnic, was unable to be present on account of a death in his family.

WATER SUPPLY OF
CITY IS PLENTIFUL

Janesville Not Suffering As a Number of Nearby Cities Are, From Shortage of Water.

While Rockford and Belvidere are suffering from a shortage of a supply of drinking water, and other cities are facing the same state of affairs, Janesville will not be affected by similar conditions, according to Sup't. E. M. Hyzer of the Janesville Water company. Water for drinking and sprinkling purposes is pumped from two artesian wells, only one of which is being used to supply the city. These are the well near the pumping station on South River street, and another two blocks west of it. Besides these, there is an open well in the Second ward which can be used in case of an emergency. From each of the two wells two million gallons can be pumped daily. The highest record pumping in the history of the company for the past twenty years was last Monday, when 1,400,000 gallons were pumped.

County Convention Will Meet in the Court House Tomorrow Morning and Afternoon.

The prohibitionists will hold their county convention at Janesville, June 28th, in the court house. There will be two sessions, one in the morning at ten o'clock, and one in the afternoon at 1:30. The delegates have been invited to bring their basket lunches for a basket luncheon at 12 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Sizer, who is considered one of the strongest prohibition speakers in Wisconsin, will be present in the interest of the state work.

In addition to electing delegates to the state convention which will meet in Madison, July 20th, in the Capitol building and the nomination of complete county and legislative delegations, the following topics will be discussed:

What it means to be a prohibition party and a party prohibitionist.
Why I am a party prohibitionist.
Can one be non-partisan on the liquor question?

The reasons for stand against county option.

Why does the consumption of liquor increase in spite of the alleged growth of "dry" territory?

In the evening Mr. Sizer will speak at Milton Junction, and State Chairman Smith will speak at the same time at Milton.

The Trusty Horse.

"The horse must go!" Sure; quite often he must go out and haul the automobile out of the mud.

FINAL'S ARE TO BE PLAYED ON TUESDAY

Fred Schaller and H. McCoy to Decide Championship Tomorrow for Wilson Lane Cup.

In the final-round for the Wilson Lane cup which the Mississippi golfers have been competing for, Fred Schaller defeated Geo. E. King and H. McCoy won from Chester Morse. This leaves Schaller and McCoy to play the final game tomorrow for the cup. The next contest of interest to the golfers is the Morgan cup and the game committee announces that the qualifying scores for this evening must be handed in by a week from Tuesday.

On July fourth the game committee have arranged for a special match game, mixed foursomes, putting contests and long drive contests. The club is also in receipt of two invitations for home and home tournaments, one with the Maple Bluff golf club of Madison, and the other with the Ridge County club of Chicago.

DAILY DIET HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist.TOO GREAT VARIETY IS WASTEFUL.

Too great variety is a conspicuous fault in our dietary system—if we have a system.

The Courage of Captain Plum

By JAMES OLIVER
CURWOOD

Illustrations by Magnus G. Kellner

lement. Yet no sooner had he fought himself clear of the mob than his better judgment leaped into the ascendancy. If danger had been lurking for him before it was doubly threatening now and he was sufficiently possessed of the spirit of self-preservation to exit at the speed with which he was enabled to leave pursuit behind. A single glance over his shoulder assured him that the man whom he had saved from the prophet's wrath was close at his heels. His first impulse was to direct his flight toward Obadiah's cabin; his second to follow the path that led to his ship. At this hour some of his men would surely be awaiting him in a small boat and once aboard the Typhoon he could continue his campaign against the Mormon king with better chances of success than as a lone fugitive on the island. Besides, he knew what Casey would do at sundown.

At the top of the slope he stopped and waited for the other to come up to him.

"I've got a ship off there," he called, pointing inland. "Take a short cut for the point at the head of the island. There's a boat waiting for us!"

Neil came up panting. He was breathing so hard that for a moment he found it impossible to speak but in his eyes there was a look that told his unbound gratitude. They were clear, fearless eyes, with the blue glint of steel in them and, as he held out his hands to Nathaniel, they were luminous with the joy of his deliverance.

"Thank you, Captain Plum!"

He spoke his companion's name with the assurance of one who had known it for a long time. "If they loose the dogs there will be no time for the ship," he added, with a suggestive lurch of his naked shoulders. "Follow me!"

There was no alarm in his voice and Nathaniel caught the flashing gleam of white teeth as Neil smiled grimly back at him, running in the lead. From the man's eyes the master of the Typhoon had sized up his companion as a fighter. The smile—daring, confident, and yet signalling their danger—assured him that he was right, and he followed close behind without question.

A dozen rods up the path Neil turned into a dense thicket of briars and underbrush and for ten minutes they plunged through the pathless jungle. Now and then Nathaniel saw the three red stripes of the whipper's lash upon the bare shoulders of the man ahead and to these every step seemed to add new wounds made by the thorns. As they came out upon an old roadway the captain stripped off his coat and Neil thrust himself at his heels.

"Saved her!" gasped Nathaniel. "From what? How?" A hundred questions seemed leaping from his heart to his lips.

"From Strang. Good God, don't you understand? I tell you that I am going to kill Strang!"

Neil stood as though appalled by his companion's incomprehension. "I am going to kill Strang, I tell you!" he cried again, the fire burning deeper through the sweat of his cheeks.

Nathaniel's bewilderment still shone in his face.

"She is not Strang's wife," he spoke softly as if to himself. "And she is not—". His face flushed as he nearly spoke the words, "Obadiah lied!" He looked squarely into Neil's eyes. "No, I don't understand you. The counselor said that she—Marion was Strang's wife. He told me nothing more than that, nothing of her trouble, nothing about you. Until this moment I have been completely mystified. Only her eyes led me to do what I did at the jail."

Neil gazed at him in astonishment. "Obadiah told you—nothing?" he asked incredulously.

"Not a word about you or Marion except that Marion was the king's seventh wife. But he hinted at many things and kept me on the trail, always expecting, always watching, and yet every hour was one of mystery. I am in the darkest of it at this instant. What does it all mean? Why are you going to kill Strang? Why?"

Neil interrupted him with a cry so poignant in its wretchedness that the last question died upon his lips.

"I thought that the counselor had told you all," he said. "I thought you knew." The disappointment in his voice was almost despair. "Then it was only accidentally—you helped us?"

"Only accidentally that I helped you—yes! But Marion—" Nathaniel crushed Neil's hand in both his own and his eyes betrayed more than he would have said. "I've got an armed ship and a dozen men out there and if I can help Marion by blowing up St. James—I'll do it!"

For a time only the tense breathing of the two broke the silence of their lips. They looked into each other's face, Nathaniel with all the eagerness of the passion with which Marion had stirred his soul, Neil half doubting, as if he were trying to find in this man's eyes the friendship which he had not questioned a few minutes before.

Over in his body was stretched to the

"My Sister, Captain Plum."

VICE CONSUL FIGHT WITH EDITOR MAY CREATE DIPLOMATIC CRISIS.

Elliott Northcott, American Minister at Bogota, Colombia, who is exerting every influence to prevent a diplomatic crisis over the MacMaster incident.

Washington, D. C.—A diplomatic situation which may develop into a serious international crisis has been created by the threatened arrest of an American consul by the authorities of Cartagena, Colombia.

Elliott Northcott, American minister at Bogota, Colombia, advised the state department late this afternoon of the decision of the appeal court at Cartagena, which held William B. MacMaster, American vice and deputy consul at Cartagena, guilty of attacking two Colombians about a year ago.

After a moment the clucked fist that had shamed in his eyes burst into savage flame and his face became suddenly terrible to look upon. There was hatred there such as Nathaniel had never seen; a ferocious, pitiless hatred that sent a shuddering thrill through him as he stood before it.

The present difficulty developed from an assault made on Mr. MacMaster about a year ago by Mario Laro, Cordoba and Abelardo Barrera, two residents of Cartagena, Colombia.

Mr. MacMaster was the editor of an anti-American newspaper which devoted considerable space to attacks upon the American government and personal abuse of the American vice consul. Mr. MacMaster was out hunting one afternoon when he became involved in a dispute with the editor. There was no clash, however, and he returned to his home.

Later in the evening he was called from his residence by the two Colombians who attacked him. MacMaster was careful to avoid being the aggressor and allowed the two natives to see that he was unarmed. He fought both assailants bravely and succeeded in wresting from one of them a short club with which he was being beaten. With this weapon he finally beat off both his assailants.

In the abdomen he was seriously stabbed in the abdomen and spent some time in a hospital and spent some time in a hospital.

Neil stood as though appalled by his companion's incomprehension. "I am going to kill Strang, I tell you!" he cried again, the fire burning deeper through the sweat of his cheeks.

Nathaniel's bewilderment still shone in his face.

"She is not Strang's wife," he spoke softly as if to himself. "And she is not—". His face flushed as he nearly spoke the words, "Obadiah lied!" He looked squarely into Neil's eyes. "No, I don't understand you. The counselor said that she—Marion was Strang's wife. He told me nothing more than that, nothing of her trouble, nothing about you. Until this moment I have been completely mystified. Only her eyes led me to do what I did at the jail."

Neil gazed at him in astonishment.

"Obadiah told you—nothing?" he asked incredulously.

"Not a word about you or Marion except that Marion was the king's seventh wife. But he hinted at many things and kept me on the trail, always expecting, always watching, and yet every hour was one of mystery. I am in the darkest of it at this instant. What does it all mean? Why are you going to kill Strang? Why?"

Neil interrupted him with a cry so poignant in its wretchedness that the last question died upon his lips.

"I thought that the counselor had told you all," he said. "I thought you knew." The disappointment in his voice was almost despair. "Then it was only accidentally—you helped us?"

"Only accidentally that I helped you—yes! But Marion—" Nathaniel crushed Neil's hand in both his own and his eyes betrayed more than he would have said. "I've got an armed ship and a dozen men out there and if I can help Marion by blowing up St. James—I'll do it!"

For a time only the tense breathing of the two broke the silence of their lips. They looked into each other's face, Nathaniel with all the eagerness of the passion with which Marion had stirred his soul, Neil half doubting, as if he were trying to find in this man's eyes the friendship which he had not questioned a few minutes before.

To be continued.

Adversity and Prosperity.
We become wiser by adversity; prosperity destroys our appreciation of the right.—Seneca.

PLAY BALL—Soo at elsewhere.

R&G CORSETS
Model A67
is a new one.

What trade or occupation?

Three Marvelous American Cities

Seattle, Tacoma and Portland

One must see them to realize what the word "progress" means.

Electric block signals—dining car meals and service "Best in the World"

via the

Union Pacific

"The Safe Road"

For full information, booklets, etc., address

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.
120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G. NEIMAYER, G. A.

120 Jackson Blvd., Chicago

W. G.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 27, 1870.—Notings.—The river is getting so low that there is fear that sickness may ensue unless the lower dam be speedily completed. This would have an effect to raise the water and prevent further escape of the poisonous effluvia which is now becoming so offensive and dangerous.

The festival in Young's school house, for the benefit of their pastor realized the comfortable sum of forty-one dollars net.

The rulling of Court Street bridge is in exceedingly dilapidated condition; so much so that those who are in the habit of making it the spot for their daily sleighs are in danger of a sudden immersion without their own consent.

Mr. George Sanborn, well known to many of our citizens as formerly conductor on the Monroe branch of the Madison & Prairie City road, and more recently occupying the same position on the main line of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, has just been promoted to the Assistant Super-

Mother the First in Home. The dominant feature of the home, however loving the father may have been, is the mother.

Intendency of the Northern Division of that road.

The ordinance prohibiting fast riding and fast driving upon the various bridges of the city, is published to day.

A couple of swamp angels were before Justice Smith's court today. They were arrested somewhere up the river and were about as rough a pair as is often seen in this locality. They have gone to jail.

Several towns in this vicinity were visited by refreshing showers on Saturday last. La Prairie, Johnston, and Sheboyne were among the favored places. Present indications are that Janesville will not remain long unbleased. Armies of clouds are marching overhead and the big voices of the commanders come stronger and stronger as the turbulence of their hosts increases. With bated breath we wait the first discharge that shall scatter the cloud shod among us.

A gentleman in this city bought a horse about a year since for $500 and recently sold the animal for $3,000. Such a horse trade will answer.

Only Real Conquests. The only conquests that cause no regrets are those made over hatred.—Napoleon.

About the Size of it.

"Half the world doesn't know how the other half lives," said the professor, trying to be sensible. "Yes," put in the grouch, "and what's more, it's too busy to care."

The Borrower of Trouble. He who foregoes calamities suffers them twice over.—Porto-ros.

The Ticklemouse —and his Sleepyland Adventures By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Lamplighters

It was early when the merry mice visited the nursery last night, probably not later than half-past nine. But the streets of Doverville were as dark as blackbirds hat.

There had been an accident in the gas factory just before supper time. Messenger boys had carried posters from house to house, saying in big black type:

"CARRY A LANTERN TONIGHT!"

"A breakdown at the gas factory will make it impossible to have the street lamps burning tonight."

"The gas company hopes to have things in running order by tomorrow night, but it will be pitch dark to night."

Willy Wishinghouse found one of the posters and handed it to his uncle, The Ticklemouse read it and gave a low whistle. "Well! Guess there's work for us tonight, my mouse. Shall we let Taddy and the twins help?"

"Oh, let's. Uncle Tick! It's lots more fun when they are along. Besides, it will be easy gathering them—the marshes are full of them tonight! So they tickled the twins awake and wished Taddy bear alive again, and off went the five to the swamp down by the creek.

"How many have you caught, Willy?" called Davy after a while, stopping to count the lively fireflies in his own bottle.

"Only seven. They're not half so easy to catch as usual—what do you suppose has got into them, Uncle Tick?"

"Well, they are pretty full of ginger tonight. But when we do get them, they'll make all the better street lamps. Let's count up; I have six—Willy, seven—that's twenty-three; Taddy had four and Davy five and drying her tears. "Come right along with me and we'll fill your bottle in no time. We need only eight more, anyhow; there are only forty lamps in town." And soon Dorfy was happy over a flaxing, sparkling dozen of her own.

"Now we'll hurry back to town," said the Mouse. "And the one of these lightning-bug gentlemen in each street lamp, and Willy can wish them big enough to give twice as much light as Doverville usually has." And holding fast to their bottles of angry fireflies, they groped their way through the dark streets, eager to surprise the town.

"Well, say!" said the mayor to the postmaster, looking out at the shining streets when Lodge meeting broke up, soon after eleven; "guess the gas company's bills didn't guess it right, after all. Every street lamp in town seems to be blazing away first rate!"

"That's so," said the postmaster, rising to lock up the store. "They're a heap brighter than usual, skin me if they hasn't! The damage at the gas factory must have been easier fixed than they called it."

"But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

In each lamp twinkled a big, sleepy firefly—bigger than any they had ever seen before—so worn and weary from shining all night long that he had but the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

But the gas company was more puzzled than anybody else, for the gas was not turned on again till after breakfast. And when they went around and looked at the still flickering lamps in broad daylight, they found the biggest surprise of all.

</